

IN THE ABSTRACT

Please insert the Abstract which is attached on a separate sheet.

ABSTRACT

Organic light emitting diode devices having a substrate bearing an organic layer sandwiched between electrode structures. The organic layer includes, in a single layer a hole transporter, an electron transporter and a light emitter where the electron transporter or the light emitter (of) the electron transporter and the light emitter include a material of general formula 1.